EXTERNAL EVENTS

Where has MaDiTraCe been lately?

Click on the pictures to go to the event!*

The MaDiTraCe PROJECT proudly contributed to advancing the sustainable use of minerals at SDIMI2024, held in Torino, Italy, from July 9 to 11, 2024. Paulina Fernandez-Muñoz from Leoben University presented our holistic global traceability framework. Thania Nowaz from DMT explored transparency in supply chains through Chain of Custody. The conference was a great opportunity to share our progress and engage with industry leaders.

The MaDiTraCe Project took part in the CircularTech Forum Battery Passport Edition on September 16th in Cologne, Germany. Our project coordinator, Daniel Monfort Confort from BRGM, contributed to the first panel discussion, presenting the progress of the MaDiTraCe PROJECT within the Digital Product Passport framework.

Supported by the MaDiTraCe project and organized by the Iberian Sustainable Mining Cluster and ICAMCYL Foundation, the EURAW Clustering event was a great success. Held in Seville on October 17-18, it featured 28 European projects focused on critical raw materials aiming to share their results and foster synergies around traceability and sustainable practices.

The MaDiTraCe PROJECT had a fantastic presence at the MMH, Mining and Minerals Hall in Seville, Spain. Our project was presented during the poster session exhibition by María Fernández Reyes from the Iberian Sustainable Mining Cluster (ISMC). Along with DMT GROUP partner, together, actively promoted MaDiTraCe PROJECT at their booth in the exhibition area.

The Raw Materials Week 2024, the largest policy event on raw materials organised by the European Commission attracts over 1,000 participants from industry, administration, civil society, research, and academia.

Our MaDiTraCe PROJECT team, represented by BRGM, Iberian Sustainable Mining Cluster (ISMC), and Montanuniversität Leoben, actively participated this year.
